April 15, 2024 – (Chelsea, MI)

Working Well is a collaborative of employers in the 5 Healthy Towns region committed to sharing resources and best practices that support employee health and well-being. While every employee's needs are unique and different, companies who speak openly about health and well-being can be instrumental in helping employees and their families access help when it is needed.

We are inviting all businesses and non-profit organizations in the region to join Working Well, a free resource that supports you and your workforce. When you complete the 5-minute survey, you will receive a free wellness center pass for each of your employees. If you nominate a Working Well Ambassador, the ambassador will receive a complimentary 12-month wellness center membership. In turn, your ambassador commits to:

- Sharing useful resources with your company leadership and workforce.
- Promoting wellness center opportunities.
- Attending an annual meeting.
- Organizing wellness challenges of interest to your workforce.
- Sharing success stories with our community.

To get started, go to the link, and follow the survey instructions and nomination form.
