BRIDGING TO BELONGING

A Foundation for Solving Issues and Meeting Community Needs

The work of creating spaces of belonging is at the foundation of all the other great work being done in the community. It supports the successful co-creating of the future together.

Bridging to Belonging empowers a strong foundation of the skills needed to create spaces of belonging and provides bridging experiences in small, diverse groups.

In this session, we will:

- Introduce you to the science of belonging and why it matters for the work of Rotary
- Learn and practice a few starter skills for bridging to spaces of belonging
- Wrap up with how these skills can lead to meeting needs in your communities
